Communications to be privileged.

14. No person shall in any legal proceedings be permitted or compelled to produce or disclose any communication, written or oral, that has taken place—

- (a) between the Commission, or any member, or of any board, or any officer of the Commission, or the secretary, and the Government, the Governor, a Secretary of State, or a public officer; or
- (b) between any persons who are members of the Commission or of any board, or officers of the Commission, or the secretary, in exercise of or in connection with the exercise of their functions, unless the Governor, acting after consultation with the Chairman, consents in writing to such production or disclosure.

Protection of members.

15. Every member shall have such and the like protection and privileges, in case of any action or suit brought against him for any act done or omitted to be done in the execution of his duties under the Constitution or this Act or any regulations made thereunder, as is by law given to any magistrate acting in the exercise of his office.

False information.

16. A person who, in connection with an application by himself or any other person for appointment to a public office or in connection with any other matter upon which it is the duty of the Commission to advise the Governor, wilfully gives to the Commission or to any member any information which is false or misleading in any material particular is guilty of an offence and is liable on conviction on indictment to imprisonment for up to two years and to a fine not exceeding level 5 on the standard scale or to both.

Publication and disclosure of information.

17.(1) No member nor any other person shall without the consent in writing of the Governor, acting after consultation with the Chairman, publish or disclose to any unauthorised person or otherwise than in the course of duty the contents or any part of the contents of any document, communication or information whatsoever which has come to his knowledge in the course of his duties under the Constitution or this Act, and a person who knowingly acts in contravention of this subsection is guilty of an offence and is liable on conviction on indictment to imprisonment for up to one year and to a fine not exceeding level 4 on the standard scale or to both.

(2) A person who, having possession of any information which to his knowledge has been published or disclosed in contravention of subsection (1), publishes or communicates to any other person any such information, otherwise than for the purpose of any prosecution under this Act or in the course of his duty, is guilty of an offence and is liable on conviction on indictment to imprisonment for up to one year and to a fine not exceeding level 4 on the standard scale or to both.

Attempts to influence Commission.

18.(1) A person who, otherwise than in the course of his duty, directly or indirectly by himself or by any other person in any manner whatsoever influences or attempts to influence any decision of the Commission or of any member is guilty of an offence and is liable on conviction on indictment to imprisonment for up to two years and to a fine not exceeding level 5 on the standard scale or to both.

(2) Nothing in subsection (1) shall prohibit any person from giving a certificate or testimonial to any applicant or candidate for any public office or from supplying any information or assistance upon formal request by the Commission.
