Commencement.

2. These Regulations come into operation on the day of publication for accounting periods ending on or after 1 January 2018.

Interpretation.

3. In these Regulations -

“non-taxed profit” means the distributable profits of an accounting period that have been derived from profits not chargeable to tax in accordance with the provisions of the Income Tax Act 2010 and are determined by identifying the aggregate income sources of a company in that accounting period that have not been chargeable to tax under Income Tax Act 2010 less any attributable costs.

“taxed profit” means the distributable profits of an accounting period that have been derived from profits chargeable to tax in accordance with the provisions of the Income Tax Act 2010 and are determined by taking the total accounting profit in any accounting period less the total non-taxed profits.

Tax credit on dividends

4. The tax credit attributable to a dividend payable shall be determined by reference to the actual amount of tax paid on that part of the dividend payable which is derived from taxed profits and shall be calculated in accordance with the provisions of these regulations and the Income Tax Act 2010.

5. Accounting periods shall be grouped by reference to the applicable tax rate. Profits and gains after taxation for each accounting period shall be analysed in the first instance between distributable and non-distributable profits and gains. The distributable profits and gains shall thereafter be analysed between taxed profits and non-taxed profits together with the corporation tax paid or payable.

INCOME TAX (DIVIDEND TAX CREDIT) REGULATIONS 2018

Subsidiary
2018/119

6. The profits or gains for an accounting period, grouped in accordance with regulation 5, shall be the total profit or gains for that accounting period inclusive of any dividend income, notwithstanding that the tax credit attributable to the dividend income has been calculated on the basis of a tax rate which is or are different to the tax rate applicable to the group to which the profits or gains have been allocated.
7. Any dividends received or receivable by a company included in the profits or gains for an accounting period shall, for the purposes of regulation 5 above, be allocated between taxed profits and non-taxed profits in accordance with the particulars provided under section 59A of the Income Tax Act 2010 in respect of such dividends and any tax credit attributable to the dividends received shall be classified as corporation tax paid or payable.
8. Dividends payable shall, in the first instance be deemed to have been paid out of the aggregate balances, net of any dividends previously paid or deemed to have been paid, of the earliest group in respect of which taxed profits and/or non-taxed profits are available. Any shortfall shall be deemed to have been paid out of the aggregate balance of the profits of the next group.
9. Where the aggregate available taxed profits for any group represents a loss that exceeds the available non-taxed profits for that group, the loss, balance of non-taxed profits and any balance of tax paid or payable shall be carried forward to the next group, if, as a consequence of a change in the corporate tax rate such a next group has to be created.
10. Where the aggregate available taxed profits for any group represents a loss that is less than the available non-taxed profits for that group, the loss together with an equivalent amount of the available balance of non-taxed profits and any balance of tax paid or payable shall be carried forward to the next group, if, as a consequence of a change in the corporate tax rate such a next group has to be created.
11. If more than one dividend is paid or becomes payable in any accounting period, the provisions of these regulations shall apply to each of the dividends in the order of the date on which each was paid or payable.
12. Any negative balance in respect of tax paid for any group shall be carried forward to the next group if as a consequence of a change in the corporate tax rate such a group has to be created.
13. Consequent to any change in the corporate tax rate a new group shall be created notwithstanding that the new tax rate is the same as that of a prior year.
