- (b) any condition as to the period for which the licence shall remain in force; and
- (c) any condition requiring the licensee to give security for the performance of his obligations under the licence.

(2) Where a licence is granted to a company, it shall in every case be a condition of the licence that the licensee shall submit to the Commissioner of Income Tax such information as the Commissioner may from time to time require in order to determine whether and to what extent any dividend is a dividend to which section 15 applies.

Issue of licences.

12. Where the Minister grants a licence under section 10 (1), the secretary shall issue to the applicant a licence, in the prescribed form and specifying the conditions (if any) on which it has been granted.

Amendment of licences.

13. (1) Subject to subsections (2) and (3) of section 10 and to subsections (2), (3), and (4) of this section, the Minister may on application by a licensee–

- (a) amend the licence by approving its transfer to any other person; or
- (b) amend any other term or condition of the licence.

(2) Without prejudice to the generality of the discretion conferred on the Minister by subsection (1), the Minister may refuse to approve a transfer under subsection (1) unless the proposed transferee submits to the Minister such information as the Minister might require if the proposed transferee were an applicant for the issue of a licence de novo; and for the purposes of this subsection, section 16 shall apply as if the information were submitted by him pursuant to an application for a licence.

(3) In amending a licence by approving its transfer under subsection (1), the Minister may attach such conditions as he thinks fit to his approval.

but so that nothing in this subsection shall authorize the conferring on one or more persons of benefits that in the aggregate exceed the benefits provided for in the licence immediately before the transfer.

Benefits under Licences.

Relief of gains and profits from income tax.

14. (1) Where a licensee has complied with the conditions of his licence, he shall not be liable to pay income tax in respect of the gains and profits arising from the project to which the licence relates before the year of assessment in the basis period of which the aggregate gains and profits (after deducting all losses that are allowable under section 20 of the principal Ordinance) first exceed the capital expenditure on the project, determined in accordance with this section.

- (2) In determining the sum which shall qualify as capital expenditure—
 - (a) no account shall be taken of any amount paid or agreed to be paid for any existing business or commercial undertaking in Gibraltar or goodwill;
 - (b) account may be taken of the cost of reclaiming land for the purpose of the project, but except in such a case no account shall be taken of the cost of any land; and
 - (c) where the Crown has allocated any site at a nominal rent for the purpose of the project, there shall be deducted from the amount that would otherwise qualify as capital expenditure the sum that is equal to the difference between the nominal rent and the rent which could reasonably be expected to have been paid if the allocation had been made on a strictly commercial basis during the period in respect of which the licensee is by virtue of his licence not liable to pay income tax.

(3) Subject to subsection (2) and to any condition of the licence, the determination of the sum which shall qualify as capital expenditure shall be made, in each case, by the Financial and Development Secretary in his discretion.

(4) For the purposes of this section,—

- (a) during the period in respect of which a licensee is by virtue of his licence not liable to pay income tax, all gains, profits and losses made or suffered by him shall be computed and determinations shall be made in accordance with the provisions of the principal Ordinance as if he were not so exempted from liability to pay income tax;
- (b) the assessment in respect of the first year for which the licensee is liable to pay income tax on the gains and profits arising from the project to which the licence relates shall be equal to the difference between the aggregate gains and profits, less any losses, to the date to which accounts have been made up in the preceding year and the capital expenditure as determined under this section; and thereafter assessments shall be made on the basis provided in subsection (1) or (2) of section 8 of the principal Ordinance; and
- (c) where a project consists of further development of an existing undertaking, the gains and profits of the undertaking to which the further development relates shall be treated as the gains and profits in respect of which the licensee, by virtue of his licence, is not liable to pay income tax.

(5) Notwithstanding section 16 or section 18 of the principal Ordinance, no deduction shall be allowed to a licensee under either of those sections in respect of any item which has been taken into account as capital expenditure, in accordance with the provisions of this section, on the project to which his licence relates.

Relief of dividends from income tax.

15. (1) Where the conditions of a licence that has been issued to a company have been complied with, no person specified in subsection (3) shall be liable to pay income tax on any dividend that is paid out of gains or profits of the company on which, by virtue of section 14, it is not liable to pay income tax.

(2) Notwithstanding subsection (1)–

- (a) the dividends exempted from tax under this section shall not exceed in the aggregate the capital expenditure on the project to which the licence relates as determined in accordance with section 14; and for that purpose the Commissioner of Income Tax may determine the proportion of each dividend that shall be exempted;
- (b) this section shall not apply in respect of any dividend that is declared after the end of the year of assessment next following that year of assessment in respect of which the licensee first becomes liable to pay income tax on the gains and profits arising from the project to which the licence relates; and
- (c) a company which is ordinarily resident in Gibraltar shall deduct as provided in section 39(1) of the principal Ordinance whether or not the dividend is exempted under this section from income tax, but the Commissioner of Income Tax shall, on being satisfied that the dividend is so exempted or is partly exempted, authorize the company to refund the appropriate amount to the shareholder.

(3) Subsection (1) of this section refers to any person–

- (a) who receives a dividend to which that subsection relates directly, as a shareholder of the licensee; or
- (b) who receives wholly or partly the money comprising any such dividend indirectly, as shareholder of any other company, if since being distributed as a dividend by the licensee, that money has not been paid to any person otherwise than by way of distribution as a dividend to one or more shareholders in any company.

Relief from import duty.

15A. Where the conditions of a licence that has been issued to a licensee pursuant to section 10(2)(a)(iv), 10(2)(b), 10(2)(c) and 10(2)(d) have been complied with, the licensee shall not be liable to pay duty on the importation Rating Relief for non residential hereditaments in development projects.

15C.(1) Whereby reason of the development project carried out in pursuance of a licence granted under this or any previous act the rateable value of any non-residential hereditament is increased, then the following provisions of this section shall have effect.

- (2)(a) For a period of 12 months after the completion, duly certificated by the Financial and Development Secretary, of the development project the rateable value of the non-residential hereditament shall not be increased by the reason of the development project. If during the currency of a development project license as aforesaid the rateable value of the non-residential value of the hereditament shall have been increased by reason of such project, on completion thereof certified aforesaid any such increase in the rateable value shall for the next 12 months after completion of the development project be excluded.
- (b) For the next period of 12 months the rateable value (less any increase excluded under paragraph (a) of this subsection) shall be increased by 20 per centum of the difference between the rateable valued of the non-residential hereditaments when last rated prior to the date of taking effect of the license granted under this or any previous act and the rateable value of the non-residential hereditaments after completion of the development project (hereinafter referred to as “the difference”).

- (c) For each of the next three periods of 12 months the rateable value (less any increase excluded under paragraph (a) of this subsection) shall be increased cumulatively by a further 20 per centum of the difference.
- (d) Thereafter the rateable shall be the full rateable value of the non-residential hereditaments after completion of the development project.

(3) The reference in subsection (2) of this section to the rateable value of the non-residential hereditaments when last rated prior to the date of taking effect of the license granted under this or any previous act shall be taken as a reference to the rateable value of the non-residential hereditaments when last so rated, whoever was then the person liable to pay rates; and if non-residential hereditaments had no rateable value prior to the grant of such license “the difference” in paragraphs (b) and (c) of subsection (2) of this section shall be taken to be the rateable value of the non-residential hereditaments after the completion of the development project.

15G. If the development project involves the demolition of any hereditament the rateable value of such hereditament when last rated prior to demolition shall be excluded when calculating the difference.
