PART 3

PROHIBITION ON SURRENDER

Exceptions to duty to surrender.

26. A person shall not be surrendered under this Act if–

(a) his surrender would be incompatible with Gibraltar’s obligations under the Convention for the Protection of Human Rights and Fundamental Freedoms done at Rome on the 4th day of November, 1950, as amended by Protocol No. 11 done at Strasbourg on the 11th day of May 1994; or

(b) his surrender would constitute a contravention of any provision of the Constitution (other than for the reason that the offence specified in the Extradition arrest warrant is an offence to which section 27(1)(b) applies); or

(c) there are reasonable grounds for believing that–

(i) the Extradition arrest warrant was issued in respect of the person for the purposes of facilitating his prosecution or punishment in the issuing State for reasons connected with his sex, race, religion, ethnic origin, nationality, language, political opinion or sexual orientation; or

(ii) in the prosecution or punishment of the person in the issuing State, he will be treated less favourably than a person who–

(a) is not of his sex, race, religion, nationality or ethnic origin;

Exceptions to duty to surrender: supplementary.

27.(1) A person shall not be surrendered to an issuing State under this Act in respect of an offence unless—

- (2) Without prejudice to the application of subsection (1)—
- (a) if the conduct which constitutes the offence relates to a tax or duty, it is immaterial that the law of Gibraltar does not impose the same kind of tax or duty, or does not contain rules of the same kind as those of the law of the issuing State; or
  - (b) if the conduct constituting the offence relates to customs or exchange, it is immaterial that the law of Gibraltar does not contain rules of the same kind as those of the law of the issuing State.

Exceptions to duty to surrender: pardon and immunity.

28.(1) A person shall not be surrendered under this Act where he has been granted a pardon by the Governor in respect of an offence consisting of an act or omission that constitutes in whole or in part the offence specified in the Extradition arrest warrant issued in respect of him.

(2) A person shall not be surrendered under this Act where he has, in accordance with the law of the executing State, become immune, by virtue of any amnesty or pardon, from prosecution or punishment in the executing State for the offence specified in the Extradition arrest warrant issued in respect of him.

(3) A person shall not be surrendered under this Act where he has, by virtue of any Act, become immune from prosecution or punishment for an offence consisting of an act or omission that constitutes in whole or in part the offence specified in the Extradition arrest warrant issued in respect of him.

Exceptions to duty to surrender: expiration of time.

29. A person shall not be surrendered under this Act where—

- (a) the act or omission constituting the offence specified in the Extradition arrest warrant issued in respect of him is an offence under the law of Gibraltar; and
- (b) the person could not, by reason of the passage of time, be proceeded against, in Gibraltar, in respect of the second mentioned offence.

Exceptions to duty to surrender: where final judgment already given elsewhere.

30.(1) A person shall not be surrendered under this Act for the purpose of his being proceeded against in the issuing State for an offence consisting of an act or omission that constitutes in whole or in part an offence in respect of which final judgment has been given in Gibraltar or a State provided that, where a sentence has been handed down, the sentence has been served or is currently being served or may no longer be executed under the law of the sentencing State.

(2) A person shall not be surrendered under this Act for the purpose of his being proceeded against in the issuing State for an offence consisting of the act or omission that constitutes an offence in respect of which final judgment has been given in a third country, provided that where a sentence of imprisonment or detention was imposed on the person in the third country in respect of the second mentioned offence—

- (a) the person is serving or has completed serving the sentence; or
- (b) the person is otherwise no longer liable under the law of the third country to serve any period of imprisonment or detention in respect of the offence.

Exceptions to duty to surrender: proceedings current in Gibraltar.

- (b) the Attorney General has decided not to bring, or to enter a nolle prosequi in or discontinued, proceedings against the person for an offence consisting of an act or omission that constitutes in whole or in part the offence specified in the Extradition arrest warrant issued in respect of him, for reasons other than that an Extradition arrest warrant has been issued in respect of that person.

Exceptions to duty to surrender: where prosecution not possible in Gibraltar by reason of age.

32. A person shall not be surrendered under this Act if the offence specified in the Extradition arrest warrant issued in respect of him corresponds to an offence under the law of Gibraltar in respect of which a person of the same age as the person in respect of whom the Extradition arrest warrant was issued could not be proceeded against in Gibraltar by reason of his age.

Exceptions to duty to surrender: where offence has a nexus with Gibraltar or otherwise outside the issuing State.

33.(1) A person shall not be surrendered under this Act if the offence specified in the Extradition arrest warrant issued in respect of him was committed or is alleged to have been committed in a place other than the issuing State and the act or omission of which the offence consists does not, by virtue of having been committed in a place other than Gibraltar, constitute an offence under the law of Gibraltar.

(2) A person shall not be surrendered under this Act by reason of forum if the surrender would not be in the interests of justice.

(3) For the purposes of subsection (2) a surrender would not be in the interests of justice if the magistrates' court-

- (a) decides that a substantial measure of the person's relevant activity was performed in Gibraltar; and
- (b) decides, having regard to the specified matters relating to the interests of justice (and only those matters), that the surrender should not take place.

(4) The specified matters relating to the interests of justice are—

- (a) the place where most of the loss or harm resulting from the offence occurred or was intended to occur;
- (b) the interests of any victims of the offence;

- (c) any belief of the Attorney General that Gibraltar is not the most appropriate jurisdiction in which to prosecute the person in respect of the conduct constituting the offence;

- (e) any delay that might result from proceeding in one jurisdiction rather than another;
- (f) the desirability and practicability of all prosecutions relating to the offence taking place in one jurisdiction, having regard (in particular) to—
  - (i) the jurisdictions in which witnesses, co-defendants and other suspects are located, and
  - (ii) the practicability of the evidence of such persons being given in Gibraltar or in jurisdictions outside Gibraltar;
- (g) the person's connections with Gibraltar.

(5) In deciding whether the surrender would not be in the interests of justice, the magistrates' court must have regard to the desirability of not requiring the disclosure of material which is subject to restrictions on disclosure in the territory concerned.

(6) If, on an application by the Attorney General, it appears to the magistrates' court that the Attorney General has considered the offences for which the person could be prosecuted in Gibraltar in respect of the conduct constituting the offence specified in the Extradition arrest warrant, the magistrates' court must make the Attorney General a party to the proceedings on the question of whether the person's surrender is barred by reason of forum.

(7) In this section "the person's relevant activity" means activity which is material to the commission of the offence specified in the Extradition arrest warrant and which is alleged to have been performed by the person.

Effect of Attorney General's certificate on forum proceedings.

33AA.(1) The magistrates' court hearing proceedings under section 33(2) to (7) (the "forum proceedings") must decide that the surrender is not barred by reason of forum if (at a time when the magistrates' court has not yet decided the proceedings) it receives an Attorney General's certificate relating to the Extradition arrest warrant.

(2) That duty to decide the forum proceedings in that way is subject to the determination of any question relating to the Attorney General's certificate raised in accordance with section 33AC.

(3) The Attorney General may apply for the forum proceedings to be adjourned for the purpose of assisting him-

- (a) in considering whether to give an Attorney General's certificate relating to the surrender,
- (b) in giving such a certificate, or
- (c) in sending such a certificate to the magistrates' court.

(4) If such an application is made, the magistrates' court must—

- (a) adjourn the forum proceedings until the application is decided; and
- (b) continue the adjournment, for such period as appears to the judge to be reasonable, if the application is granted.

(5) But the magistrates' court must end the adjournment if the application is not granted.

Attorney General's certificate.

33AB.(1) An "Attorney General's certificate" is a certificate given by the Attorney General which—

- (a) certifies both matter A and matter B, and
- (b) certifies either matter C or matter D.

(2) Matter A is that he has considered the offences for which the person could be prosecuted in Gibraltar in respect of the conduct constituting the offence specified in the Extradition arrest warrant.

(3) Matter B is that he has decided that there are one or more such offences that correspond to the offence specified in the Extradition arrest warrant (the "corresponding offences").

(4) Matter C is that—

- (a) he, together with the relevant law enforcement agency in Gibraltar, has made a formal decision as to the prosecution of the person for the corresponding offences,

- (b) that decision is that the person should not be prosecuted for the corresponding offences, and
- (c) the reason for that decision is a belief that—
  - (i) there would be insufficient admissible evidence for the prosecution; or
  - (ii) the prosecution would not be in the public interest.

(5) Matter D is that he believes that the person should not be prosecuted for the corresponding offences because there are concerns about the disclosure of sensitive material in—

- (a) the prosecution of the person for the corresponding offences, or
- (b) any other proceedings.

(6) In relation to the surrender of any person under this Act, neither this section nor any other rule of law (whether or not contained in an enactment) may require the Attorney General—

- (a) to consider any matter relevant to giving an Attorney General 's certificate, or
- (b) to consider whether to give an Attorney General 's certificate.

(7) In this section “sensitive material” means material which appears to the Attorney General to be sensitive, including, but not limited to, material appearing to be sensitive on grounds relating to—

- (a) the sovereignty, security, public order or other essential interests of Gibraltar, or
- (b) the prevention or detection of crime (including grounds relating to the identification or activities of witnesses, informants or any other persons supplying information to the police or any other law enforcement agency who may be in danger if their identities are revealed).

Questioning of Attorney General's certificate.

33AC.(1) No decision of the Attorney General relating to an Attorney General's certificate in respect of a person's surrender (a “relevant certification decision”) may be questioned except on an appeal under section 38 against an order for that surrender.

(2) For the purpose of—

- (a) determining whether to give permission for a relevant certification decision to be questioned, and

- (b) determining any such question (if that permission is given), the Supreme Court must apply the procedures and principles which would be applied by it on an application for judicial review.

(3) In a case where the Supreme Court quashes an Attorney General's certificate, the Supreme Court is to decide the question of whether or not the surrender is barred by reason of forum.

(4) Where the Supreme Court is required to decide that question by virtue of subsection (3)—

- (a) sections 33 to 33AB and this section apply in relation to that decision (with the appropriate modifications) as they apply to a decision by the magistrates' court; and

(b) in particular—

- (i) a reference in this section to an appeal under section 38 has effect as a reference to an appeal under section 44 to the Privy Council;
- (ii) a reference in this section to the Supreme Court has effect as a reference to the Privy Council.

Interpretation of sections 33 to 33AC

33AD.(1) This section applies for the purposes of sections 33 to 33AC (and this section).

(2) These expressions have the meanings given—

“forum proceedings” has the meaning given in section 33AA(1);

“Attorney General's certificate” has the meaning given in section 33AB(1).

(3) In determining for any purpose whether an offence corresponds to the offence specified in the Extradition arrest warrant, regard must be had, in particular, to the nature and seriousness of the two offences.

(4) A reference to a formal decision as to the prosecution of a person for an offence is a reference to a decision (made after complying with, in particular, any applicable requirement concerning any relevant code of practice) that the person should, or should not, be prosecuted for the offence.

Exceptions to duty to surrender: execution of sentence.

33A. A person shall not be surrendered under this Act if the Extradition arrest warrant has been issued for the purposes of the execution of a custodial sentence or detention order and—

    - (ii) was informed that an enforceable judgment may be handed down in his absence; or
  - (b) being aware of the scheduled trial, had given a mandate to a legal representative, either appointed by himself or by the State, to defend him at the trial and was in fact defended by that legal representative at the trial; or
  - (c) after being served with the enforceable judgment and being expressly informed about his right to a retrial or appeal in which he has the right to participate and which allows the merits of the case, including fresh evidence, to be re-examined and which may lead to the original judgment being reversed—
    - (i) he expressly stated that he does not contest the judgment; or
    - (ii) he did not request a retrial or appeal within the applicable time; or
  - (d) was not personally served with the enforceable judgment but—

- (i) he will be personally served with the enforceable judgment without delay after the surrender and will be expressly informed of his right to a retrial or appeal in which he has the right to participate and which allows the merits of the case including fresh evidence, to be re-examined, and which may lead to the original judgment being reversed; and
- (ii) he will be informed of the time frame within which he has to request such a retrial or appeal, as mentioned in the Extradition arrest warrant.

(3) Where subsection (2)(d) applies and the person named in the Extradition arrest warrant has not previously received any official information about the existence of the criminal proceedings against him, he may, when being informed of the content of the Extradition arrest warrant, request to receive a copy of the enforceable judgment before being surrendered.

(4) Where the issuing authority is informed of the request under subsection (3) the judgment shall be provided to the person sought via the executing authority.

- (2) The relevant period is the period—
  - (a) starting when the person is first brought before the appropriate judge following his arrest under this Act; and
  - (b) ending when the person is surrendered in pursuance of the warrant or discharged.
- (3) The magistrates' court must order the person's discharge in a case to which subsections (2) and (3) apply.
- (4) If the person is not before the magistrates' court at the time the court orders his discharge, the court must inform him of the order as soon as practicable.

(3) Where the power to waive a privilege or immunity lies with an authority in Gibraltar, the magistrates' court must, when seeking to execute an Extradition arrest warrant transmitted in accordance with section 8, request that the authority waive the privilege or immunity forthwith.

(4) Where the power to waive a privilege or immunity lies with an authority of another State or international organisation and the magistrates' court has issued the Extradition arrest warrant in accordance with section 24, the magistrates' court must make a request to the authority of the other State or international organisation that it waive the privilege or immunity preventing the execution of the Extradition arrest warrant.
