 - (b) no such deduction may be made of any contribution not yet paid except where it is not payable until after the date when the wages or remuneration are paid.
- (3) Where the insured person does not receive any wages or other pecuniary remuneration from the employer, but receives such remuneration from some other person, the amount of any contribution paid by the employer on behalf of the insured person shall (without prejudice to any other means of recovery) be recoverable from the insured person summarily as a civil debt, if proceedings for the purpose are instituted within three months from the date on which the contribution was payable.
- (4) Where the insured person does not receive any wages or other pecuniary remuneration either from his employer or from any other person, the employer shall be liable to pay the contributions payable both by himself and the insured person and shall not be entitled to recover any part thereof from the insured person.

Method of payment of contribution.

9. Subject to the provisions of this Act, regulations may provide for any matters incidental to the payment and collection of contributions under this Act, and in particular but without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing—

- (a) for assessing the amount of contributions liable to be paid by any person,

- (c) for the issue, replacement, custody, production and delivery up of prescribed certificates, and any such regulations relating to the time of payment of contributions may require or authorise an employer, where an insured person's remuneration is paid in advance and in such other cases as may be prescribed, to pay contributions in advance and in connection therewith may make provision for the event of contributions so paid proving not to be payable.

(3) Subject to the provisions of section 3(3) relating to insured persons on ships, vessels and aircraft, benefit shall not be payable in respect of an accident happening while the insured person is outside Gibraltar.

(4) For the purposes of this Act, an accident arising in the course of an insured person's employment shall be deemed, in the absence of evidence to the contrary, also to have arisen out of that employment.

Accidents happening while acting in breach of regulations, etc.

11. An accident shall be deemed to arise out of and in the course of an insured person's employment, notwithstanding that he is at the time of the accident acting in contravention of any statutory or other regulations applicable to his employment, or of any orders given by or on behalf of his employer, or that he is acting without instructions from his employer, if—

- (b) the act is done for the purposes of and in connection with the employer's trade or business.

1952-10 Social Security (Employment Injuries Insurance)

Provided that, if on any of such days the insured person is not incapable of work as the result of the relevant injury, he may elect to treat the injury benefit period as having come to an end, subject to and in accordance with the following provisions, that is to say:—

- (a) he shall be deemed to have so elected if, but only if, on any such day on which he is not so incapable he makes a claim for disablement benefit in respect of the accident;
- (b) if after making such a claim he withdraws it before it is finally determined, he shall be deemed also to have withdrawn his election; and
- (c) where by making a claim as aforesaid he elects to treat the injury benefit period as having come to an end, it shall be deemed to have come to an end with the last day thereof before the making of the claim on which he was incapable of work or with the third day thereof, whichever is the later.

Disablement benefit.

15.(1) Subject to the provisions of this section, an insured person shall be entitled to disablement benefit if, as the result of the relevant injury,-

- (a) at the end of the injury benefit period he is suffering from loss of physical or mental faculty which either-
 - (i) is likely to be permanent; or
 - (ii) is substantial, that is to say, is such that the extent of the resulting disablement assessed in accordance with the following provisions of this section amounts to not less than thirty-five per cent; or
- (b) at some time after the end of the injury benefit period he becomes subject to a loss of physical or mental faculty, which is substantial and likely to be permanent:

Provided that for the purposes of this section there shall be deemed not to be any loss of faculty at any time when the extent of the resulting disablement would be assessed in accordance with the following provisions of this section as not amounting to one per cent.

(2) For the purposes of this section, the extent of disablement shall be assessed, by reference to the disabilities incurred by the claimant as a result of the relevant loss of faculty, in accordance with the following general principals :—

- (a) save as hereafter provided in this subsection, the disabilities to be taken into account shall be all disabilities (whether or not involving loss of earning power or additional expense) to which the claimant may be expected, having regard to his physical and mental condition at the date of the assessment, to be subject during the period taken into account by the assessment as compared with a similar person who has not suffered such a loss of ability;

- (b) any such disability shall be treated as having been incurred as a result of the relevant loss of faculty except that, subject to the provisions of any regulations made under subsection (3), it shall not be so treated in so far as the claimant either—
 - (i) would in any case have been subject thereto as the result of a congenital defect or of an injury or disease received or contracted before the relevant accident; or
 - (ii) would not have been subject thereto but for some injury or disease received or contracted after, and not directly attributable to, that accident;
- (c) the assessment shall be made without reference to the particular circumstances of the claimant other than age, sex, and physical and mental condition; and
- (d) the disabilities resulting from such loss of faculty as may be prescribed shall be taken as amounting to one hundred per cent disablement and other disabilities shall be assessed accordingly.

(3) Provision may be made by regulations for further defining the principles on which the extent of disablement is to be assessed and such regulations may in particular direct that a prescribed loss of faculty shall be treated as resulting in a prescribed degree of disablement ; and, in connection with any such direction, nothing in paragraph (c) of subsection (2) shall be taken to prevent the making of different provision, in the case of loss of faculty in or affecting hand or arm, for right handed and for left handed persons.

(4) The period to be taken into account by an assessment of the extent of a claimant's disablement shall be the period (beginning not earlier than the end of the injury benefit period, and limited by reference either to the claimant's life or to a definite date) during which the claimant has suffered and may be expected to continue to suffer from the relevant loss of faculty:

Provided that if on any assessment the condition of the claimant is not such, having regard to the possibility of changes therein (whether predictable or not), as to allow of a final assessment being made up to the end of the said period,-

- (a) a provisional assessment shall be made, taking into account such shorter period only as seems reasonable having regard to his condition and the possibility aforesaid; and
- (b) on the next assessment the period to be taken into account shall begin with the end of the period taken into account by the provisional assessment.

1952-10 Social Security (Employment Injuries Insurance)

(5) An assessment shall state the degree of disablement in the form of a percentage and shall also specify the period taken into account thereby and, where that is limited by reference to a definite date, whether the assessment is provisional or final:

Provided that—

- (a) the percentage and period shall not be specified more particularly than is necessary for the purpose of determining in accordance with this section the claimant's rights as to disablement benefit; and
 - (b) a percentage between thirty-five and one hundred which is not a multiple of five shall be treated for the purpose of payment of a disablement pension as being the nearest percentage, which is a multiple of five.
- (6) (a) Where the extent of the disablement is assessed for the period taken into account as amounting to less than thirty-five per cent, disablement benefit shall be a disablement gratuity.
- (b) If the period taken into account by the assessment is limited by reference to the claimant's life or is not less than seven years, the amount of the gratuity shall be that specified in the second and fourth columns of Schedule 3 as being appropriate to the degree of disablement.
- (c) The scale prescribed for the purposes of this subsection shall be the same for all persons except that a lower amount may be fixed thereby for cases where at the beginning of the period taken into account by the assessment the beneficiary has attained the age of fifteen but is under eighteen and may be made to depend on the date on which he will attain that age, but the lower amount shall not in any case be less than four-fifths of the amount to which the beneficiary would be entitled if at the beginning of the period he were over that age.
- (7) Where the extent of the disablement is assessed for the period taken into account as amounting to thirty-five per cent or more, disablement benefit shall be either—
- (a) a disablement pension for that period payable, for the several degrees of disablement set out in the first column of Schedule 4 at the rates set out for that class of person in the second and third columns of that Schedule respectively:

Provided that where that period is limited by reference to a definite date, the pension shall cease on the death of the beneficiary before that date; or
 - (b) at the option of the claimant if the period taken into account by the assessment is limited by reference to the claimant's life or is not less than seven years, a disablement gratuity of the amount specified in Schedule 5 as being appropriate to the degree of disablement.

(3) An increase of pension under this section shall be payable for such period as may be determined at the time it is granted, but may be renewed from time to time:

Increase of disablement pension during approved hospital treatment.

17. Where a beneficiary entitled to a disablement pension enters any hospital or similar institution for the purpose of receiving approved hospital treatment, then if the degree of disablement in respect of which the pension is payable was assessed at less than one hundred per cent, it shall be treated for the period for which he receives such treatment as if it had been assessed at one hundred per cent.

31.(1) Subject to the provisions of this Act, a person who is under this Act insured against personal injury caused by accident arising out of and in the course of his employment shall be insured also against any prescribed disease and against any prescribed personal injury not so caused, being a disease or injury due to the nature of that employment and developed on or after the 7th day of July, 1952.

(2) A disease or injury may be prescribed for the purposes of this section in relation to any insured persons, if the Minister is satisfied that—

- (a) it ought to be treated, having regard to its causes and incidence and any other relevant considerations, as a risk of their occupations and not as a risk common to all persons; and
- (b) it is such that, in the absence of special circumstances, the attribution of particular cases to the nature of the employment can be established or presumed with reasonable certainty.

(3) Regulations prescribing any disease or injury for the purposes of this section may provide that a person who developed the disease or injury on or at any time after a date specified in the regulations, being a date before the regulations came into force but not before the 7th day of July, 1952, shall be treated for the purposes of this section, subject to any prescribed modifications, as if the regulations had been in force when he developed the disease or injury.

(4) Provision may be made by regulations for determining the time at which a person is to be treated for the purposes of this Act as having developed any disease or injury prescribed for the purposes of this section, and, where the person in question has previously suffered from any such disease or injury, the circumstances in which that disease or injury is to be treated as having recrudesced or as having been contracted or received afresh.

(5) Nothing in this section shall affect the right of any person to benefit in respect of a disease which is a personal injury by accident within the meaning of this Act, except that a person shall not be entitled to benefit in respect of a disease as being an injury by accident arising out of and in the course of any employment if at the time of the accident the disease is in relation to him a prescribed disease by virtue of the occupation in which he is engaged in that employment.

(6) The benefit payable under this section in respect of a prescribed disease or injury, and the conditions for receipt of such benefit, shall be the same as in the case of personal injury by accident arising out of and in the course of a person's employment, subject, however, to the power to make different provision by regulations as respects any matter which is to be prescribed and to the following provisions of this section.

(7) Regulations may provide, in relation to prescribed diseases and injuries, for modifying the provisions of this Act relating to injury benefit and disablement benefit and for adapting references in this Act to accidents, and shall provide for applying in relation to claims for benefit under this section in respect of a prescribed disease or injury, and in relation to questions arising in connection therewith or with an award of benefit, the provisions of this Act relating to questions and claims in respect of personal injury by accident arising out of and in the course of a person's employment, subject to any prescribed additions and modifications.

(8) Without prejudice to the generality of subsection (7), regulations may in particular include provision—

- (a) for presuming any prescribed disease or injury-
 - (i) to be due, unless the contrary is proved, to the nature of a person's employment where he was employed in any prescribed occupation at the time when, or within a prescribed period or for a prescribed length of time (whether continuous or not) before, he developed the disease or injury; and
 - (ii) not to be due to the nature of a person's employment unless he was employed in some prescribed occupation at the time when, or within a prescribed period or for a prescribed length of time (whether continuous or not) before, he developed the disease or injury; and
- (b) for such matters as appear to the Minister to be incidental to or consequential on provisions included in the regulations by virtue of the foregoing provisions of this section.

Disqualifications, etc to be disregarded for certain purposes.

1952-10 Social Security (Employment Injuries Insurance)

32. The Minister may direct that a person who is not entitled to benefit in consequence of the operation of any of the foregoing provisions of this Part shall in cases of hardship be treated as if he were entitled thereto for the purpose of any rights or obligations under this Act.

PART V. DETERMINATION OF QUESTIONS AND CLAIMS.

- (a) whether the relevant accident has resulted in a loss of faculty;
- (b) whether a loss of faculty is likely to be permanent;
- (c) at what degree the extent of disablement resulting from a loss of faculty is to be assessed, and what period is to be taken into account by the assessment, shall be determined by the Medical Board or the Medical Appeals Tribunal and any such question shall be referred to as a disablement question.

Appeal from, and review of Director's decision.

34.(1) Any question of law arising in consequence of the determination of any question mentioned in section 33(1) may, if the Director thinks fit, be referred at the instance of the Attorney-General for decision to the Supreme Court.

(2) The Chief Justice may make provision by rules of court for regulating references and appeals to the Supreme Court under this Act, and such rules shall provide for limiting the time within which appeals may be brought.

(3) The Director shall be entitled to appear and be heard on any such reference.

(4) Any person who considers himself aggrieved by any decision of the Director may appeal to the Employment Injuries Appeals Board in the prescribed manner and within the prescribed time:

(2) Any assessment of the extent of the disablement resulting from the relevant loss of faculty may also be reviewed by the Medical Board, if satisfied that since the making of the assessment there has been a substantial and unforeseen aggravation of the results of the relevant injury:
